Level 130 is the 131st level in the backrooms.

Description

Level 130 is a sustained and supplied village with shops, restaurants and houses. For some unexplainable reason, the weather is always snowy, or hailing, and the season is ALWAYS winter. It is advised to not leave the main gate, as temperatures there may reach around 1°. You may buy Almond Water, and you can also get normal food, similar to The Frontrooms. The snow is also similar to snow in The Frontrooms. It is advised to pack up as many supplies as you can, as some of the exiting levels have little supplies. This level is very secure, thus it is a good safe place to settle down for a while. You may live here, as there are open houses that you can live in. Be advised that the outside of the main gate is unsafe, unsecure and unexplored, so thus anything can happen to you.

Entities

There are many friendly

Facelings working in the shops or restaurants, and many just living in the level. You can interact and talk with these facelings, and they are friendly.

Most of the hamlet's population is Facelings. You may find these Facelings anywhere throughout the hamlet. If you try to hurt these facelings, they will simply tell you to stop, and a unknown source will stop your body from hurting the Facelings.

Colonies and Outposts

The Hamlet

This is the hamlet's entire colony. Anyone living there is considered part of this colony. You may join and the estimated population of this colony is around 64 and growing. You can trade in the town with other Facelings part of the colony.

Entrances and Exits

Entrances

- Nocliping into a snowy rock in Level 65 will take you here.

Exits

- Nocliping into any sand will take you to Level 395
- Melting the snow outside the hamlet, then taking it back to the hamlet, then melting it and pouring it on your head will take you to Level 7
